Not Yet Cone uded.

The trial of Supt. and Chief Detective Charles W. Gardner, of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime, indicted for attempting to extort blackmail from a female lawbreaker, will be resumed next Monday. Recorder Smyth, who long ago and the calendars were already made for the February Term, to begin on Monday.

In this announcement, Mr. Goff declared that he and his associate would not return after the recess; that they were physically exhausted, and it was not fair to make them go on.

Lawyers in court expected to hear the peppery Recorder direct that Mr. Goff be sent to Ludlow Street Jail for contempt in thus defying the Court.

Mr. Goff said, at a suggestion of this kind on a similar occasion, Thursday:
"I don't think it would hurt our case if the Recorder did lock me up." The Recorder did lock me up." The Recorder did lock me up. The Recorder, however, said, slimply:

"To I understand that you intend to disobey the order of the Court."

"I mean to say, Your Honor, with all due respect, that we are physically unable to comply with your order. We shall not return."

Mr. Wellman said he thought he could help Gardner to remember where he had got the rest of the money expended, and he called in, one after another, a dozen women and men, saloon-keepers, nuneum managers and dive owners, who claimed to have been blackmalled by Gardner.

by Gardner.
Gardner said the Parkhurst Society paid all his expenses, besides a salary of $100 a month, and Mr. Wellman made it appear that most of Gardners "expenses" were for champagne, and that he spent fully $100 a week in that line

After recess, however, the crowd of curious people that had gathered was disappointed, for there were the belligerent lawyers in their places. They were meek, the Recorder was snuxe, and the case was adjourned till Monday on the instant.

Gardner's cross-examination by Prosecutor Wellman brought out the fact, apparently, that Gardner had spent about $1,500 and had $1,556 in his pockets when arrested, out of about $2,000 that he had sarithmetical condition when he is given an opportunity by his lawyers on a redirect examination.
